As an athlete who trains intensely, your body is more prone to wear and tear and the increased demands will inevitably lead to sore joints and muscle pains. If you're pushing your body to the extreme at the gym, you demand something that will alleviate this pain quickly and effectively. ALLFLEX was strategically designed to provide support and relief from the pounding your body takes in and out of the gym.

ALLFLEX is an advanced recovery reliever that promotes joint health and mobility and reduces the pain and inflammation associated with intense physical activity. As a proprietary blend it has been formulated for both active individuals and competitive athletes who participate in high intensity exercises.

The key to this impressive and highly advanced formula is a combination of 3-LASTIN™ for inflammation and OptiMSM® for joint mobility with potent Curcumin for Free Radical Reduction and Antioxidant support!
